Inclusive finance for sustainable landscapes requires a multistakeholder integrated approach

Access to finance is a key element of sustainable and inclusive landscapes. But frequently the recipients of finance and the providers are confronted with a set of challenges. But what are these challenges? And once identified, how can this be overcome?

Through a literature review the main challenges and the possible solutions to overcome them where identified. This infographic summarizes the main findings.

Want to know more? Read our full paper: https://doi.org/10.3390/land11091444

This infographic has been developed under the framework of the Mobilizing More for Climate programme financed by Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Netherlands.